DENIZ TONT

International Student Health and Welfare Advisor

*When you come to San Diego,
I am here for you!*

"I advise International Programs students on some potentially challenging aspects of studying abroad: the U.S. healthcare system, medical insurance matters, housing issues, and anything affecting their well-being. I love getting to know students individually and making a positive difference in their lives. I first worked with international students when I was a student myself. While completing my bachelor's degree in psychology at UC San Diego, I worked as a Cultural Ambassador at the English Language Institute. I made friends with international students and gained a better understanding of diverse cultures around the world while also sharing about U.S. culture from my perspective as a Turkish-Filipino American. Working as a Cultural Ambassador led to a certificate in Teaching English as a Foreign Language and a career in international student advising. I am so glad I chose this path. When you come to San Diego, I am here for you!"

CONDITIONAL ADMISSION OPPORTUNITIES

CULTURAL AMBASSADORS

Cultural Ambassadors are UC San Diego students and members of the community who are proficient in English. They actively participate in Conversation classes several hours per week, leading discussions with small groups of students.

A photograph of three young adults (two men and one woman) standing on a coastal path, laughing and looking at each other. The woman in the center is wearing a white ribbed long-sleeve shirt, a beige fanny pack, and high-waisted blue jeans. She has glasses and her hair is tied back. The man on the left is wearing a black hoodie and black pants. The man on the right is wearing a blue denim jacket over a grey hoodie. In the background, there is a blue ocean, a wooden pier, and palm trees under a clear sky.

"I like the vibrant life of San Diego. At UC San Diego, you can experience the Southern California lifestyle: casual, relaxed, and young, with an amazing location close to the beaches."

"I've been satisfied with UC San Diego's life. People here are so kind and cool. The nature around the campus makes me relaxed and refreshed. The campus is huge and looks cool. There are a lot of restaurants, shops, and even a theater that students can use easily. It's so comfortable for UC San Diego students. I love this kind of atmosphere, mood, and vibe sincerely."

—HYOJIN CHUN, South Korea

"I chose UC San Diego because San Diego is not called, "America's finest city" for no reason. You have everything here in San Diego. From incredible nature to the nicest beaches, great universities (like UCSD), and really nice people. UC San Diego is well known for its Bioengineering department, which is where I want to focus my studies. So this was a great chance for me to study at one of the best universities in the world."

Becoming an attorney empowered me to affect the conditions affecting me and my family.

DUANE E. BENNETT

United States

UC San Diego Division of Extended Studies
Instructor for Civil Rights Leadership and Tort Law, Former City Attorney for the City of Oceanside, and retired General Counsel for the Port of San Diego

"At an early age I became interested in ethnic disparities in my neighborhood compared to others, and recognized that things were much worse for African Americans. I recognized education as a way of progress and becoming an attorney as a method of social change. If nothing else, becoming an attorney empowered me to affect the conditions affecting me and my family. As an African American attorney, I am always disturbed when I observe racism, discrimination and mistreatment of people. The importance of civil rights statutes, due process, and equal protection in eradicating racism, discrimination, and inequality cannot be overstated."

"The Legal English program was extremely important for my career. It prepared me to apply for law school and pursue a master's degree in Comparative Law. It really helped me improve my English skills and provided me with a necessary overview of the most important topics of American Law. After studying Legal English, I went to University of San Diego (USD) School of Law and completed an LLM in Comparative Law. I then worked as a legal auditor in San Diego before returning to Brazil to practice law. I now have my own successful law practice in Rio de Janeiro."

Legal English

The Legal English program was extremely important for my career.

The knowledge of marketing I gained during my studies is helping me a lot in my career.

University and Professional Studies

"I studied abroad twice at UC San Diego through the University and Professional Studies (UPS) program—during both my bachelor's and master's degree programs at the International School of Management in Munich. UPS was a great program for me. I liked the variety of courses I could take. Following my first study abroad experience with UPS, I completed an internship in the International Programs marketing department, and now, after completing my master's degree back home, I am back in Southern California and head of marketing at the German American Business Association. The knowledge of marketing I gained during my studies is helping me a lot in my career."

"After spending a decade as a Manager of Accounting and Administration at a Construction Company in Paris, I decided to pursue further knowledge and skills by enrolling in the Business Management and Marketing Certificate program at UC San Diego Extended Studies. It is important to stay up to date in my industry and expand my expertise internationally, on a global scale. Presently, I serve as the Executive Director at The San Diego French American Chamber of Commerce, and I am immensely grateful for the opportunity to have participated in the Business Management Certificate program."

Business Management

I am immensely grateful for the opportunity to have participated in the Business Management Certificate program.

The teachers were my favorite part of my experience at UC San Diego. I was motivated by their commitment and passion.

Teaching English as a Foreign Language

"The teachers were my favorite part of my experience at UC San Diego. I was motivated by their commitment and passion. By taking the TEYL certificate during my studies in the TEFL Proficiency program, I acquired more teaching techniques, skills, and practice in teaching young students in the early stages of learning English. Since completing the TEFL Proficiency program in 2015, I have been teaching English at primary schools back home in Chile. I work full-time as an English teacher for first through seventh grades."
