"Suffolk has a lot of workshops to help students build their résumés. They also do practice interviews and help you find a job at the career center. Suffolk helped me because they have those workshops. I had a chance to practice with them. I did not have any interviews in English before. It was a very good start for me to improve from there."

"One class that I am currently taking this semester that is very helpful for me for my future career is applied public relations. In this class, we learn about a lot of case studies through different fields not only in PR (public relations), but still related on how certain situations or factors affect companies and their brand's images. This is really important for me because learning through these case studies is very hands-on and makes it more helpful to understand and learn how to handle those situations."
